

JG Environmental Ltd

The Pest Control Professionals

Pest Control has slowly become an important element, in both residential and commercial properties in London over the past decade. Rodents, insects and birds carry a number of diseases and can infest your food, irritate your skin, damage your building, furniture and reputation.

JG Environmental has established itself as one of London's premier Pest Control companies. Carrying out efficient and professional treatments, and making customers their number one priority.

JG Environmental offer the complete Pest Control service. Our services range from same day call outs to annual service contracts with some of the biggest companies in London.

JG Environmental also specialise in bird control on both residential and commercial properties, which usually includes surveying free of charge followed by the professional installation of netting, wiring and spiking where necessary.

We monitor and look at all aspects of service, from quality of baiting and monitoring to treatment reports and customer satisfaction.
